In the present number of HARPER'S NEW MONTHLY MAGAZINE is given the first of a series of papers by J. Ross Browne, descriptive of travels in Northern Europe illustrated by characteristic sketches by the Author. These papers will include descriptions of journeys in Norway, Finland, and Russia.

Mr. Ross Browne's Article on the "Hartford Convention" is in continuation of the series which will describe, in detail, the accepted propaganda of the United States, beginning with the "South Carolina Secession," and closing with the "Confederate Companion."

No married woman can afford to be without this ever-reliable and faithful "Companion." It describes her peculiar com-plant as a wife, as a mother, or even to become so in her causes and sympathies, and prescribes the proper remedies in plain language.

Many of her complaints her sensitive nature forbids coming to a physician, and so often suffers after year, pale, languid, attenuated, and wondering what ails her.

Years of misery have been spared by this timely possession.

Mr. Thackeray's "Puffin" approaches its close. The Picturesque Papers are to be continued, and will be followed, semi-monthly, in the next Number, by a New Novel, by the Author of "Adam Bede," "The Mill on the Floss," and "Miss Maguire."

An Illustrated Magazine, Harper's New Monthly has now begun. Whether it is possible for the article of the week to be more interesting than the illustrations, we do not know. The price is 50 cents. The weekly rate of subscription is $5.00.
